THE RECOUNT.

McINNIS AND DAVIN STILL NECK AND NECK.

'Technicities'—'Quibbles'—'Spoils'—'Rejected'—'Irregularities'—The Doubt Increases as the Recount Proceeds.

Special to THE TIMES.

On Tuesday morning Judge Richardson held in Regina the recount of the votes polled at the recent election for West Assiniboia. Mr. McInnis was represented by the Hon. Joseph Martin, of Winnipeg, and W. J. Nelson, of Moose Jaw, appeared on behalf of Mr. Davin, who also had a lot of pleading for himself. The first ballot that caused any discussion was one from North Regina, marked for McInnis, but which the deputy returning officer had neglected to initial, as required by the Act. Mr. Martin asked that it be disallowed, while Mr. Nelson claimed to have it counted. Thus we had Mr. McInnis demanding that one of his votes be struck off, and Mr. Davin entreating to have it kept on. Perhaps the reason for Davin's anxiety on the point lay in the fact that it was known that at Edenwald, where Davin had a majority of 22, not one of the ballots had been initialed. Mr. Martin's argument was that the statute had expressly demanded the initialing of the ballot as the only means of showing that the papers were the identical ones the deputy returning officers had given to the voters. The judge seemed to take this view, but he reserved his judgment until the afternoon sitting when he decided to count all such ballots, from Camden whereon the voter had marked the paper, not in the circular space, but on the oblong space whereon was the name of Davin. A Pilot Butte ballot, also marked for Davin and signed in full by John Lytle, the deputy returning officer, was reserved for consideration, and two Camden ballots, one for McInnis and one for Davin, were rejected because they bore marks by which they might be identified.

On Wednesday Mr. Davin asked that all disputed points be left over for consideration until all the boxes were opened and the undisputed votes counted. The judge assented to this. It is a decision that has caused public dissatisfaction, as it enables the judge to know how the land lays before he finally decides the disputed points, and in the large mind there lurks a suspicion that such a position may influence the mind of even a judge. Another ballot signed in full, viz. one by Dickson, the deputy returning officer at Lundon, marked for Davin, was reserved.

Yesterday (Thursday) two ballots for Davin, one from Dunmore and one from Swift Current, were rejected because they were each marked with a single stroke and not with a cross, eight ballots from Camden, whereon the name of Davin were held over for consideration, because the deputy returning officer had neglected to attach the circular space. There were also three Lundon ballots marked McInnis when the judge has not made up his mind whether or not to count them, because they were in the envelope for "spoils," an evident mistake that can only be rectified on reference to the list of voters, and the judge has not yet decided whether we have power to refer to this. Taking the result of the recount as it stood, McInnis has a majority of 2, but it will be seen from the above that everything now depends upon how the judge gives his decision upon the before mentioned reserved points, and this he is to do to-day (Friday).

Saturday's League Match.

The fourth Military Rifle League match, which are held over the whole Dominion, took place at Moose Jaw on Saturday, June 27th, at the Rifle Association butts here. The team consisted of Messrs. Seymour Green, C. A. Gass, Jas. Mair, John Wellington, Ed. Moore, W. J. Nelson (captain), Thos. Withrow and Alex. McKenzie. The team scored 805 points out of a possible 1000 and thus stood high among the competitors throughout Canada. President Con. Leary acted as range officer.

Bond Bros. Circus.

On Wednesday, July 1st, the circus of Bond Bros. opened their day's engagement here with a grand parade which attracted a very large crowd. The menagerie was very good and contained some rare specimens of the animal kingdom, including a beautiful Soudanese Quagga. The performance was first-class, especially the serial return act of La Role Bros., which elicited most hearty applause. It is said that they worked their pea and nut game with great success—for the circus men—during their stay here.

School Board Meetings.

During the past week the School Board have held three meetings. At the meeting on Friday, July 3rd, the principal item of business transacted was the passing of the estimates for 1897, which aggregated $4,200. At the next meeting, which was held on Tuesday, the secretary was instructed to call for tenders for kalsomining the old building and re-painting the blackboards. Mr. A. McDonald was awarded the contract, his tender being $60. At Thursday's meeting the Board re-engaged the following teachers:—Mr. R. G. Martin, for entrance department; H. H. Wilcox, Miss Burnett and Miss Stevenson. The Board are desirous of re-engaging Mr. Fenwick, but so far he has been unable to decide definitely as to his being able to stay for another year.

THE KOOTENAY MINES.

A London Mining Experts Opinion on Their Richness.

The gold fields of Kootenay, B. C., continue to attract increasing attention. Mr. Pritchard, F.G.S., a mining expert from London, England, passed through from Kootenay on Saturday. He has spent two months in British Columbia looking over the gold fields in the interest of a wealthy English syndicate, which has invested there. Mr. Pritchard thinks the gold mining at Rossland and Southern Kootenay marvellously rich. It bids fair, he says, to exceed the output of South African mines. Having had thirty-six years experience in mining, passing some time at the famous Ballarat mines, Australia, and being on the Rand, South Africa, less than a year ago, as consulting engineer for the largest mining syndicate in South Africa, Mr. Pritchard knows whereof he speaks. It is his opinion that the Rossland district surpasses in mineral wealth any mines yet examined by him. He thinks many undeveloped veins in Kootenay will prove as rich as the famous Le Roi, which has transformed several penniless Spokane speculators into multi-millionaires. The Le Roi pays monthly $100,000 of dividends on a capital of $2,500,000.

Mr. Pritchard is interested in several claims, besides the Rossland, Kootenay, London company syndicate. One of the claims gave the remarkable assay of $30 a ton from one foot below the surface. Mr. Pritchard will return at the end of the year, bringing the best modern machinery for rapid and thorough development. His company is backed by English noblemen and has paid up capital of $500,000.

To Stop Hens Sitting.

Sometimes it is quite difficult to induce hens to give up the notion of sitting, especially turkey hens, as they are very persistent. The following is a good plan: Just before dark take the hen off the nest and put her on the roost. They cannot bear to be disturbed at night, will soon forsake the nest, and commence to lay in a few days again.

Police Court.

On Thursday, July 2nd, Const. Glend, after a long chase, succeeded in capturing near Moose Jaw a man by the name of Jas. O'Conner, of Seattle, Wash., who was charged with the theft of $7.50 from Ralph Manley, operator at Pasqua. He was brought before Police Magistrate Seymour Green the same day and pleaded guilty of the charge. He had nothing to say as to extenuating circumstances. He was accordingly sentenced to three months imprisonment in the Regina jail. Prisoner was a discharged employee of Bond Bros. circus company.

Boharm.

MR. EDITOR,—Since our paper has been laid aside we have been at a great loss for news, and as Boharm is full of news at this time, we hope you will favor us with space in your first issue for a few of the mishaps.

Some of the people's faces have changed since the news of Mr. Davin's victory, but the majority of the people feel that their joy may return after the recount.

Weed Inspector Green is making his rounds. Be on your guard boys, and have your weeds pulled.

Miss Emily Green is home for her summer vacation.

Rev. Mr. Robinson preached his farewell sermon on Sunday last. His successor, Rev. Mr. Wootton, of Prince Albert, is expected to arrive soon.

Mr. Walker Auger started on Monday for Maple Creek with his haying outfit, where he expects to remain for the summer putting up hay for his father.

The Lyon Bros. have secured the services of Mr. Ed. Robson for the summer.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Laurier Elected in Saskatchewan—Oliver's Majority is 784.

Dalton McCarthy's exact majority in Brandon is 335.

The returning officer in Alberta has declared Oliver elected by 784 majority, the vote standing Oliver 3647, Cochrane 2863.

Judgment was given Friday afternoon last in the case of the east York election recount. McLean, Conservative, was declared elected by a majority of 3. All ballots marked on the outside of the disc were allowed on both sides.

The newspaper press will be well represented in the new parliament by the following members:—Frank Oliver, of Alberta; Hewitt Bostock, of Victoria; J. R. Robertson, Toronto; W. F. McLean, Toronto; R. L. Richardson, Winnipeg; J. V. Ellis, St. John; and C. H. Parmelee, Waterloo, Que.

Full returns from Saskatchewan give Mr. Laurier a majority of 42, Liberals at Prince Albert say it is likely Mr. Laurier will sit for Saskatchewan, and it is said, word has been received from him to that effect. In that case it is probable he would be returned by acclamation when offering for re-election, but conservatives say that they will oppose any local Liberal who might offer. Messrs. Newlands and Davis, of Prince Albert, are spoken of as likely Liberal candidates if the premier-elect does not sit for this district.

The recount in Marquette election took place on Monday, July 5th. Judge Cumberland presided. The result gave Dr. Roche a total vote of 1,533, a gain over the deputy returning officer's reports of twenty; Ashdown 1,466, a gain of 29; Marshall 472, a gain of 13. Roche's majority is therefore 67. Nearly all the 69 ballots counted in by the judge were those rejected because of the cross being in the space with the candidate's name instead of being in the white disc in the border. At the south Shoal Lake poll, which gave Ashdown 15 of a majority, the deputy returning officer forgot to initial the ballots, they were, however, allowed by the judge.

THE FARMER'S GARDEN

THE KITCHEN GARDEN.

Every farmer should have a kitchen garden large enough to supply the household with vegetables and fruit throughout the whole year. There is nothing more beautiful than a good supply of vegetables and fruit. These the farmer can have at little or no cost, because he has the facilities necessary to produce them. With a good supply of the leading vegetables and fruit farmers can board their hired help at much less cost and keep them better contented, than if meat, bread and potatoes alone form the principal foods.

A farmer is compelled to work harder and much longer days than any other workman and very often he gets the least returns. He should try to make these returns as large as possible if he desires to be successful. The garden should be located convenient to the dwelling, and if properly located and laid out it can be kept in good order without much care.

Most farmers have a garden and if it were properly cared for it would supply an abundance of vegetables for the table. Many people fail to have a satisfactory garden because they do not begin right. They plow under a little unrotted manure, drag it over until it is reasonably smooth, then they go to the nearest store for their seed, which, perhaps, has been kept over from year to year, instead of getting their seeds from reliable seedsmen. Often they do not touch the garden after the seeds are sown. If they cultivate it at all they wait until the weeds have gotten well started, and, as a consequence, many kitchen gardens, by midsummer, look much like fields of weeds.

The best location for a garden is a level piece on a southern slope. This can generally be had on most farms, as the dwelling house is usually situated on a slight elevation. The kind of soil best adapted for gardening is an open sandy loam. Such is almost always naturally drained. If it is too wet some means should be used to get it drained. A wet soil is cold in the spring and consequently gives late crops.

Having located the garden plot a fence should be built around it to keep off chickens and other nuisances. If the garden is to be started from the soil the best time to begin work is in the early fall. Plow and harrow until the plot is smooth. When the soil is smoothed off well, all the cravies will be filled so that decomposition will go on. After the soil has been well pulverized it is a good plan to cover it with a good layer of coarse manure which adds humus to the soil and helps to rot the soil and also to keep the soil warm.

At that moment a ragged, unkempt and typical vagabond came forward and bawled out the words of the Lord's Prayer. "Well, Jim, they say you've got to go."

"No, but you are fatally injured, however."

"That means I'm a goner!"

"Yes."

"Well, I'd be liked to get over this and had sunbath to talk about and brag over, but I ain't doing no kickin' My pard on the car ahead. Was he hurt?"

the pit eighteen inches thick and should be packed down solid. The soil should be put on as soon as the manure is in to keep it from getting cold. As soon as the manure is put in the pit the temperature rapidly rises—often as high as one hundred degrees. The seeds should not be sown until the temperature has gone down to about ninety degrees. The soil should be a rich loam well filled with rotten manure, and should be put in about six inches thick. After the seeds are sown the temperature should be kept about eighty degrees during the day and fifty-five at night.

When ready to sow the seeds, select a fine day and remove all the ashes and mats. Make drills from rear to front, about four inches apart and one-half inch deep. Sow the seeds in the drills, level off the surface, then put on the ash and toward night put on the mats. The mats should be removed every day about nine or ten o'clock, which will keep the time in the sun. The secret in growing small plants lies in letting them have the proper amount of air at the right time and in not letting them get too hot. The air should be let in right after the mats are taken off. The beds should be watered with tepid water whenever they become dry, and the season becomes warmer the plants need more water and more varied care.

A garden is as necessary to a farmer's success, comfort and happiness as any other crop he may raise. Why should we not take advantage of all these simple, scientific, practical facts? Time is hard, and in order to make farming pay, the farmer must have his eyes open to all these little things.

THE LORD'S PRAYER.

Repeated by a Brother Tramp, Seated in His Wheelchair.

The way train ahead of us had struck an open switch and been derailed, and two passengers were killed outright and five or six others more or less injured.

The killed and injured were lying on the depot platform as our train came up, and among the latter was a professional tramp who had been stealing a ride. After the doctor had looked him over the vagabond, who had not lost consciousness for a moment, smiled and asked:

"Well, pard, what's the verdict of the jury?"

"You are badly hurt," was the reply.

"I know that. I was right in the squeeze when the two cars cum together. I'm as flat as a pancake. Will I ever tramp again?"

"I'm afraid not."

"Ar' my legs off?"

"No; but you are fatally injured, however."

"That means I'm a goner!"

"Yes."

ABOUT THE HOUSE.

THE CHILDREN'S DINNER PAILS.

They need special attention during the first warm days of spring. The favorite articles of food of the winter lose their attractiveness, and unless extra care is taken, the pale will come home nearly as well filled as in the morning. Especially will this be the case with fast-growing girls.

Don't, pray don't, give them bread and butter, the slices cut in precisely the same size and shape, for five days of the week the entire school year. Of course, this must be the staple article, but do vary it. Brown bread, graham or whole wheat graham, rolls, and even buttermilk biscuits, will prove an agreeable change. Remember that sandwiches are the least wearisome of any articles that go in the dinner pail.

To this slice of roast beef, add a little ham or a minced meat, and add the yolks of hard-boiled eggs, grated cheese or a thin layer of chopped meat and sauce. Various jellies, jams and marmalades make appetizing fillings for sandwiches. Cut the bread thin, trim off the crust, butter with good butter and make into a sandwich. School girls love pickles. In place of the acid cucumber and beet, give them a little of the sweet pickles, peach, pear, apple or plum. Remove the seeds from the syrup the night before, that they might drain, and place them in a shallow dish.

For dessert, don't give them pie, unless you can bake tiny ones, one for each child. Oh, the jammed, sticky masses of pie that have confronted me during my days of school! I remember plain, wholesome cake frosted with a chocolate, rose, coconut, nut or raisin frosting will be recalled. So will cookies and pretty fancy wafers that can be bought at any bakery. When you make a rice or tapioca pudding, bake a little one in a tin cup for the dinner pail. Or fill the cup with the oatmeal rice or hominy prepared for breakfast, stirring in while hot a small piece of butter, a spoonful of sugar and a bit of flavoring. Fruit is always well come—apples, oranges, bananas or a tightly covered jelly dish of canned fruit. Make the contents of the pail as well as taste, appetizing. And don't forget a napkin—one made of half a cord of plain cord will do. Yes, it looks like it, but it pays.

LOVE OF BROTHERS AND SISTERS.

The beautiful Margaret of Navarre was devoted to her brother, Francis I. When he was apparently dying, Francis I. found her brother to him through privation and danger, and succeeded in affecting his deliverance. When he was ill at a distance from her she went every day and sat down on a stone in the middle of the road to catch the first glimpse of a messenger afar off. And she said:

"Oh, whoever shall come to announce the recovery of the king, my brother, though he be soiled and disheveled, I will kiss him and embrace him as though he were the finest gentleman in the kingdom."

When he died she seemed literally heart-broken, and did not long survive him.

Sir William and Caroline Herschel seemed to have but a single thought in their minds, and that was to study the stars. One evening, however, they were interrupted by the other patiently noted down the results. Together they reached out, each always interested in the same pursuit, and their ways devotedly attached to each other.

Goethe was always the living friend and partner of his sister Cornelia. It was said that he wrote her letters, and that she wrote his, and that by a magnet which attracted me strongly at all times. One day, however, she wrote to him, "I am tired of writing to you."

To approach our own time and tongue more nearly is to find Dorothy Wordsworth, who lived in her brother's house, and who was a true friend and partner of his sister. She was a true friend and partner of his sister. She was a true friend and partner of his sister.

Charles Lamb and Mary were friends true and tried, and the poet Whitman lived, loved and died in the light of his sister's love. The measure of his love for her was the vacancy left by her departure.

DESSERTS FROM DRIED FRUITS.

The importance of dried fruits as food is not well enough understood. As fruit dries a large portion of the water is lost and the nutritive portion is left in a more condensed form for our use.

We all know that bread is regarded as one of the great life-sustainers; few realize that dried fruits are nearly the same per cent. of nutrients. In parts of Europe we find the dried pear common as the date in the east; indeed, the dried pear is called the "date of Germany." Who sees it commonly used here? How few think of combining these fruits with their cereals, meat or macaroni. The right preparation, we might have in these combinations some of our most wholesome and palatable dishes.

Apricot Jelly.—Make a quart of orange jelly. Place a layer in a jelly mold; when hardened arrange a thin layer of prepared apricots, another layer of jelly, and so on until all is used. Serve cold with whipped cream. If desired, use apricot juice instead of orange.

Raspberries and blueberries can likewise be prepared in the same way as apricots and then used in rolled puddings and batter puddings.

Apricot Sauce.—One-half pound apricots, 1-2 lb. sugar, wash apricots, soak 24 hours. When gently one to two hours. When ready to use, add sugar to taste, or the entire 1-2 lb.

Prunes.—Wash, soak over night or 24 hours, place in granite or porcelain pan with water in which they were soaked, and stew gently until plump and tender. When nearly done add lemon juice and sugar to taste.

Prune Jelly.—Make like apricot jelly, using lemon jelly, halving and stoning prunes. Serve with custard or whipped cream.

Prune Pudding.—One-fourth pound powdered sugar, 2 teaspoons cream of tartar. Beat whites stiff, add sugar and cream of tartar, arrange half a buttered pudding dish, arrange half of prunes, stewed, stoned and quartered upon this, then half of remaining whites; rest of the whites, rest of the whites. Bake 22 minutes in a very moderate oven. Serve with a custard sauce made from the 5 egg yolks and a pint of milk, with sugar to taste.

Prune Whip.—Make like the pudding only the prunes strained and the whipped cream is added. The whole is piled lightly upon a platter, placed over a dish of hot water and browned in the oven. Served with custard sauce.

Prune Souffle.—One-half pound prunes, 3 tablespoons powdered sugar, 4 eggs, 1 scant teaspoon vanilla. Beat egg yolks and sugar to a cream, add vanilla, and mix with this the prunes, stewed, drained, stoned and quartered. Fold in the whites beaten stiff with a dash of salt. Bake in a moderately quick oven 20 minutes. Serve immediately.

Prunes may likewise be made into pies by straining the fruit and then making like date pie.

Fig.—Soak dried figs in cold water for several hours, then stew slowly until plump. Drain and pile upon a dish serve with whipped cream arranged in a circle around them.

Roll Pudding.—One pint flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-3 teaspoon salt, about 1-2 cup milk. Stir dry materials, rub in half the butter, add milk and water until a stiff dough. Roll three sides of an inch thick spread with the remaining butter softened; then with a layer of any desired fruit from juice. Roll up like a jelly roll and cut into pieces about 1-3 inches long. Place pieces of roll on and in a buttered pan and bake 20 to 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot with a sauce made from fruit juice.

Place pieces of roll on and in a buttered pan and bake 20 to 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot with a sauce made from fruit juice.

Dried Apples.—Wash, soak, stew, season with lemon and spice, sweeten to taste. Make into pie, or arrange in alternate layers with stale buttered bread crumbs in an earthen dish; brown in the oven and serve with lemon sauce or any preferred pudding sauce. Use 1-2 cup crumbs to each cup of apples.

A COBWEB QUILT.

For this quilt save your pieces of light or dark striped material. The design is made up of hexagons or six-sided figures. Each block of the quilt is made six equilateral triangles, that is, triangles whose three sides are exactly the same length. If these triangles are cut out of the striped goods so that the stripes run straight across from side to side (not from the point of the triangle), the stripes will match when the triangles are sewed

LOOK AHEAD.

"Look Ahead" is the watchword of the hour. Generous nature whispers "look ahead for a bountiful harvest." The economic philosopher looks hopefully ahead for the fruits of sagacious, energetic and clean government—on the principle that "the new broom sweeps clean." The sinewy toiler as his muscles swell to the task, sees ever in imagination, the cheery home, the well-spread table, and the smiles and greetings of his loved ones, which crown the labors of each succeeding day;—he looks ahead. Nothing was ever accomplished by looking backward. The railway train does not bring the Atlantic and Pacific within six days' travel by looking backward. The engineer's watchword is "look ahead." The "look ahead" of the landsman and the "look aloft, you lubber" of the sea skipper are synonymous adjectives. The midshipman never gains the top of the spar by looking backward. No one is asked to forego the undeniable lessons and advantages of experience, or to neglect that heed which the canny man will ever pay to good example; but to profit by example and experience does not entail looking backward. Memory supplies all that is useful of bygone events. To look backward and forward are two things which one cannot do at once. If we are looking backward we cannot be looking forward. To make the best of our lives we must not cease looking forward. The lives of the railway passengers are in danger the moment the engineer ceases looking forward. Each life may be likened to a train. There are stations in life's journey, but no stop except the final one. Ambition is life's legitimate road-bed. Knowledge conducts the train—caution is the brake—bravery holds the throttle. A safety valve is not needed, only for enthusiasm, and that makes its own outlet. The man who keeps not his eye upon the beacon of hope is in danger of the pitfall of despair. Then, look ahead.

THE MOOSE JAW TIMES looks ahead. In truth, shame compels us to look ahead. There is that in the immediate past history of THE TIMES which cannot be looked back to without an excitation of disgust. For one short term THE TIMES was dragged into the loathsome gutter of venality. Its opinions—on what passed as its opinions—were sold for a price. The political briber was allowed to place his slimy hand on the throat of THE TIMES. The perpetration of an editorial swindle was attempted. The honest principles of Patriotism which this paper had long professed, were bartered for the promise of two hundred greenbacks. Fraud took the place of truth. Bogus letters which carried on their face the stamp of dishonesty, filled the columns which had before been devoted to expositions of genuine principles. An editorial and commercial Judas sought to advise truth-seeking electors how to cast a ballot. But the fraud was exposed in time. THE TIMES office has been purged. Careful scrutiny of the plant and premises shows that the contamination was but temporary. We seek now to bury the past, and strive to look only into the hopeful future. The new management of THE TIMES is only human, and bound to err; but we will give an emphatic guarantee that we will say what may from time to time seem to be our duty to say, in candor and honesty. Our view point will be independence. We may, with all modesty, boast an absolute freedom of criticism. In past months THE TIMES recognized the duty of passing severe strictures upon numberless sins of omission and commission on the part of the Government. A new regime is soon to be inaugurated. We can but hope that the new administration will be so conducted that less severity of criticism may be required. Whether the hope be justifiable, time will prove.

In matters of local import THE TIMES will be found ready to fight for the interests of Moose Jaw and locality. We are confident that our town is destined to become an important railway, ranching, manufacturing and agricultural centre. The requisite conditions are not lacking, and the means of development are bound to materialize in due course. Our location is pre-eminently favorable, our farming land is of the best, and our grazing sections are unsurpassed. Why should we not look into the future with hope? Let not the memory of past failures deter us. We will look ahead—and we will go ahead.

OFFICIALS.

A change of government is always viewed with more or less distrust by a certain class of public officials. In the United States, when a change occurs, it applies almost to a man in the lower branches of service, as well as to the representatives of the people. We are glad to say that this practice has not obtained a footing in Canada, as we have at the head of our leading departments men who are pronounced Liberals, appointees of a Liberal administration, and whose services are appreciated and have been continued by a Conservative government. These gentlemen are referred to by the Conservative friends of many in the public service, no doubt as a plea, for the necks of those who have fallen at the government crib, till like broncho horses, they have become almost unmanageable. While pleading and illustrating by these high officials, it might be well to advise those blatant demagogues of the lower class, that their place of business is where they draw their pay. A conservative would not keep in his employ a man who was only looking for an opportunity to knife him, and as Grits are not given the credit of ordinary intelligence by gentlemen holding government positions right in the Territories, it is time they were given to understand that they are public servants, paid from a treasury contributed to by all classes, and although they are the appointees of an indulgent government their appointments were to them veritable "blessings from on high."

A civil servant can exercise the franchise given him without the necessity of condemning either Grit or Tory. Offices should be filled by men competent and attentive to public interests and not to party prejudice; or we may find too late that parties, like individuals, will not be knifed or have their friends offended by those they feed. The public service will be impaired as offices will be sought for their emolument, those receiving the appointments knowing they will be swept from the board if their opponents succeed. This is not a condition to be desired and if it ever arrives will be attributable to these ill-balanced political office holders and not to the parties in power.

CANADA'S NEEDS.

The following clipping from the May number of Industrial Canada seems to be worthy of quotation here: "It is a good thing to find Canadians in an inquiring mood. We do not think that conditions are as serious as politicians tell us, seeing that these are election times. At the same time things will bear investigation. Indifference is the greatest evil of the people. They do a lot of hasty thinking—or take the thinking in chunks, as it comes from others—at these times. What is required is a more equitable distribution of the concern that bunches itself into one short month or two every five years.

Careful thought, well matured and influenced by a sincere regard for the Dominion's welfare, from her best citizens is the need of the hour. This kind of thought we find in a letter written by Mr. B. E. Walker, general manager Bank of Commerce, to the Globe.

Politicians are ready to promise much at these times. The question is, whether the wise thing is to continue in the execution of promises, or is it not better to call a halt?

Problems of race and problems of class assert themselves beyond question. These will create ferment and disturb business, so long as unsettled. On these and other important points Mr. Walker writes as follows:—

1. We should settle as speedily as possible all questions now under discussion which are calculated to create sectional differences.

2. Let us also discuss less such subjects as imperial federation, or better trade relations with the United States, and give more attention to the humble but more important details of our business affairs at home.

3. We should exercise the greatest possible economy in public expenditure consistent with efficiency, whether in the affairs of the Dominion or in the smallest municipal government. Business is depressed and we spend too much publicly and privately. Economy is unpopular but absolutely effective for such moderate ills as we in Canada are required to bear.

Each province should offer the best possible conditions to induce the better class of men not satisfactorily employed, to take up free grant lands. This is an old story, but every man already in the country and willing to work when thus placed, is a greater gain than an immigrant. The Dominion government should open throughout Great Britain and Northern Europe offices where reliable information could be obtained regarding our lands, agricultural, pastoral and mineral.

Nothing has happened in the progress of Canada which requires us to seek new roads to success. We have merely halted after over exertion and will resume our march when through the needed rest we have acquired fresh energy.

You never know how many people want your wares until you commence to advertise them.

Dickey, Desjardins, Angers and Taillon are the four Ministers of Tupper's Cabinet who sustained defeat in the late election.

According to a report submitted to the High Commissioner, Canadian butter is growing in favor in England. Shippers are advised, however, only to forward on daily cable advices, and not to glut the market. Canada has a reckless rival in the Argentine liable at any time, owing to the position of the gold premium, to flood the British market and so cause heavy losses.—Standard.

Mr. Frank Oliver, member elect for Alberta, has been suggested as the man that should be taken into Laurier's Cabinet as Minister of the Interior. Regarding the suggestion we fully agree with the Regina Leader when it says: "We doubt much whether Mr. Oliver will welcome the suggestion; but are certain that no selection could be made that would be more heartily endorsed by the West. Mr. Oliver is a man of originality of mind, and is, further, a very embodiment of genuineness. Either as a private Member or Minister, Oliver in Parliament is bound to exercise a large measure of usefulness."

Every advertisement should be a direct personal message to each individual reader of it.

Modesty is bred in self-reverence. Fine manners are the mantle of fair minds. None are truly great without this ornament.

The volume of trade is not a fixed quantity. Advertising not only enables a man to take away business from his competitors, but it often creates entirely new trade by multiplying wants.

A short time ago the Hamilton Times put the following question:—

"If the statement made to the Manitoba Synod, that four denominations were pushing their church organizations in the little village of Pipestone, containing about 50 inhabitants, is true, there would need to be a change in the mission methods of the churches at home as well as abroad. It is said that Minnising, with 100 to 200 inhabitants, has five church organizations, and a contemporary declares that in Brampton the contributions for church purposes amounts to $20,000—more than the amount of the municipal taxation. Why could this waste of efforts and money not be avoided by having some kind of a mutual understanding, and let the workers go to the fields that are 'white for the harvest'?"

How Emperors Propose.

The story is being constantly told in Russia of the answer given to the Emperor when his majesty proposed to his future wife. "The Emperor, my father, has commanded me to make you the offer of my hand and heart," was the Czaritch's quaint way of putting it. "And my grandmother, the queen," replied the lady, "has commanded me to accept the offer of your hand; your heart I will take myself." It is said, and on good authority, that the Emperor is passionately devoted to his wife, and that she is equally fond of him. Certainly (says a ladies' paper) she is a woman calculated to make any amiable man happy.

The Inventor of the Postal Card.

The postal card is a very simple contrivance, and yet what a prominent factor in correspondence it has become in modern business transactions. No less than 1,150 millions of them are used annually in the civilized world. They unite the most distant hamlet with the largest city in this country and Europe. None would have thought that in twenty five years they would come in such a general use. The honor of this cheap and convenient means of communication belongs to Professor Emanuel Herrmann, of Vienna. On January 25, 1869, he wrote a letter to Neue Freie Presse, in Vienna, in which he developed his plan of his simple card which should be issued at two Kreuzer (15 cent) by the post office department, and which would be good for the Austro-Hungarian Empire. At first the department objected to making the price as low as two Kreuzer, but agreed to three Kreuzer. But Professor Herrmann and those interested in his plan objected to the extra Kreuzer, so that finally the government agreed to the cheaper rate, and, on October 1, 1869, the first postal card ever issued was put on sale in Vienna. Some years later Germany also adopted Professor Herrmann's postal card idea, but it was not a great success till the Franco-Prussian war broke out, when they came into general use in Germany. Gradually other countries issued them. The United States, which handles them by the million now, was one of the last countries to adopt Professor Herrmann's idea.—Free Press, Easton, Pa.

Captured at Last.

A short time ago the refugee Cree Indians, who took part in the 1885 rebellion, were driven by a troop of American cavalry back into Canada.
Among them were three who were implicated in the Frog Lake massacre.
They were Little Bear (son of Big Bear), Lucky Man and Rainy Bow.
Just previous to their departure for Canada, Rainy Bow walked up to Lieut. Pershing and demanded a "big paper" to protect him from punishment in Canada. The officer pronounced him the paper and he left apparently satisfied. A few minutes later he secured a Winchester rifle and shot himself, the bullet entering the heart.
Little Bear and Lucky man accompanied the rest as far as Lethbridge, where they were placed under arrest and committed for trial on the charge of murder. They were taken to Regina in irons on Monday of last week and are now awaiting their trial at the Barracks guard room.

De Moss Family Entertainment.

These popular entertainers, now on their twenty-fourth annual tour of the world, made their first appearance before a Moose Jaw audience in the town hall on July 2, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church. The performance from beginning to end was first-class, each member of the company possessing rare musical ability. Special mention, however, may be made of the music produced from ocarinas, xylophones and regular cow bells, and also of the handbell ringing by Misses Lizzie and Minnie, which was heartily applauded by the large audience which greeted them on their visit to our town.
It is an unusual thing to see ladies playing the cornet but the cornet band,
in which Henry DeMoss plays bass cornet and bass drum, Geo. DeMoss the cornet and kettle drum, manipulating the two sticks with the left hand, and Minnie and Lizzie DeMoss each the tenor and alto cornets, was both unique and pleasing, while the numerous Scottish and English selections made the evening's entertainment one which was appreciated by all.

Primitive Fire Engines.

The oldest fire engine for pumping water is probable the one mentioned in the Spiritalia of Hero, about 150 B.C.
This engine, it is said, was contrived with two single acting pumps with a single beam pivoted between the two for working the plungers. The streams of water united in a single discharge pipe and passed up a trough having an air chamber, and out of a nozzle which might be turned in any direction as desired. Fire engines appear also to have been used extensively by the early Romans, who furthermore organized regular fire brigades.

In the early part of the 16th century a fire engine known as a "water syringe" was introduced, which in a measure, resembled the modern forms of fire engines. This was mounted on wheels and the water was pumped by levers. This form of engine was very generally used in Germany. In England about the same time large brass syringes were used. These held several quarts of water and were operated by three men, two of them holding the syringe at each side with one hand and directing the nozzle with the other,
while the third operated the plunger.
It was necessary after having discharged the water from the syringe to refill it from a well or cistern near the fire or from buckets. The syringes were later fitted to portable tanks of water.
The first successful fire engine was probably the Newsham engine, and this was the pioneer of manually operated fire engines. The pumps in these engines were built on many different designs, but in most cases they were operated by levers. Fire engines similar in form to the Newsham engine were in use up to the year 1850.

The Engineer's Soliloquy.

I say, Johnny, did you fill them rod cups? You're sure you didn't change them feeders? Guess I had better tend to them myself hereafter.
Thought I asked you to tighten up that gland? See you haven't done it.
If you ever expect to run an engine it is time you was takin' some interest in your work. I bet a dollar you didn't put that water glass in, and you know blamed well that them gauge cocks looks so bad that you can't see for the steam if you ever open 'em. I see you didn't tighten up them nuts on them pedestal braces. That's what I get for dependin' on somebody else. Next time I'll report it on the work book, or do it myself. Say, hand me down that big open ended wrench, and see if you can't shut off that injector. I've told you about that a dozen times. Say, hand me down that set-screw wrench
and that copper hammer—Johnny, can't you hear me! Blamed if I didn't think somebody was up in that cab.
Guess it was the steam blowing back in the tank. Darned if I hain't goin'
to quit railroadin', anyhow.

History of Sugar.

"Who invented or discovered sugar?"
is a question that was recently asked in Germany, and the answer given was that sugar has been known since the dawn of history, but not in all countries. The Chinese appear to have delighted their palates with sugar for more than 3000 years, and it was known in India earlier than in Europe
being made from a juicy reed or cane, says the Youth's Companion. One of Alexander the Great's generals carried sugar to Greece in the year 325 B.C., as Sir Walter Raleigh, some 2000
years later carried tobacco from Verginia to England. But even so late as 150 A.D., sugar was still a rarity
in Greece. The famous physician, Galen, used it as a remedy for certain maladies. Recent experiments show that sugar has remarkable sustaining power when eaten by those undergoing great fatigue. The invention for the first process of refining sugar is ascribed to the Arabs, and a Venetian merchant is said to have purchased the secret from them and introduced the process into Sicily. The refining of sugar was first practised in England about 1659.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER Rejoice Together.

New Year Old Maggie McRitchie, a Victim of Chronic Fainting Spells and Nervous Weakness, Completely Cured
by South American Nervine After all Other Efforts had failed. The Mother, a Sufferer From Nervous Prostration and Indigestion, Likewise Cured. Hear What the Thankful Father Has to Say.

MRS. JAMES MCRTICHIE AND DAUGHTER.

A leading local physician, whose profession takes him among the children of the various public institutions,
change in my daughter for the better remarked to the writer, that one would hardly believe that so many children were affected by nervous troubles, which sap the system and prevent proper development. In many cases the doctors are powerless to cure these troubles. They can relieve the suffering little ones, but in South American Nervine we have a medicine that does more than simply give relief. Its peculiar strength is that it completely cures where physicians relieve. A case in point came to us the 24th ult., in a letter from Mr.
James W. McRitchie of Bothwell,
Ont. He says:—"My daughter Maggie, aged 9 years, was afflicted with nervous fainting spells for over a year, which left her in such a condition of weakness afterwards that the child was practically an invalid.
We tried several remedies and doctored with her in one way and another, but nothing gave relief. Seeing South American Nervine advertised, as particularly efficacious in nervous dis-cases, I decided on trying it for her,

and I must say that I noticed a decided
change in my daughter for the better
after she had taken only a few doses.
As a result of using this medicine, she is now entirely free from those fainting spells and possessed of that life and brightness that is the happy lot of childhood. I am satisfied it is an excellent medicine for any nervous weakness. My experience has been further supplemented in the fact that my wife has also been using South American Nervine for indigestion, dyspepsia and nervous prostration,
and has found very great relief."

Whether the patient be man or woman, young or old, South American Nervine provides a complete medium for restoration to health. It is a medicine differing absolutely from every other. A cure is effected by application to the nerve centres of the human system, and science has proved that when these nerve centres are kept healthy the whole body is healthy.
For these reasons failure is impossible.

The fifteenth International Christian Endeavor convention, which is being held at Washington, D. C., was formally opened on Wednesday, July 8th. This is probably the largest convention ever held, there being from forty to sixty thousand delegates in attendance.

Senator Robert Read passed away at Ottawa on June 30. He has lain ill since the close of last session. Senator Read represented the Bay of Quinte district in the Senate and was appointed in 1871. He was a close friend of Sir Mackenzie Bowell. This makes an Ontario vacancy in the Senate.

Farmers in this district report the crops as looking excellent. Although seeding was somewhat later this year than usual, the abundant rains and fine weather have been very favorable to rapid growth. So far the indications are that the yield will exceed that of last year.

The Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition takes place this year during the week from July 20th to 25th. The C. P. R. will transport exhibits to and from the Exhibition absolutely free of charge, and greatly reduced rates will be made for the passengers. The fare for the round trip from Moose Jaw will be $9.35.

A congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church was held on Monday afternoon last, for the purpose of calling a minister. Rev. Mr. McLeod, of the Industrial school, Regina, was present and held a short service, after which the congregation passed a motion extending a call to Rev. Mr. Cameron, who has been in charge for the past month, and offering him a salary of $1,000 per year.

A grand Orange demonstration is announced to be held at Indian Head on Monday next, July 13th, under the auspices of the Loyal Orange Association of Eastern and Western Assiniboia. Prizes will be awarded for baseball, foot ball, bicycling and other athletic sports. Speaking will take place in the Experimental Farm building, thus giving the visitors an opportunity of seeing one of the grandest and most instructive sights in the Territories. For programmes and other information see small bills.

Pastor Avasche of the Baptist congregation gave his hearers a disappointing surprise last Sunday evening by announcing that that evening's sermon would be his last in the capacity of pastor. He has not decided upon his next location. Mr. Avasche has been resident Baptist clergyman here for over three years, and the people of all denominations have learned to very highly respect him. His departure is deeply regretted not only by his own congregation but by all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance.—Regina Leader.

Insp. Battell paid Regina a visit on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Hugh Ferguson was at the Regina race meeting.

Messrs. Lindsay and Balfour, of the Massey-Harris Co., were in town this week.

Mr. Albert Holthby, late of THE TIMES staff, has returned to his home in Regina.

Mr. Ross, M.L.A., came up from Regina yesterday morning, and left for Yellowgrass the same evening.

Two new lawn tennis courts have been made in the east end of the C. P. R. garden, and considerable interest is now being taken in the game.

Mr. T. J. Scott, of Winnipeg, who has resided in Moose Jaw for the past month, gave an entertainment in the town hall on Monday evening, and was greeted with a fairly good house. Mr. Scott has a fine tenor voice, and his rendition of several Scotch solos could not fail to please all present.

The C.P.R. land department have started out their inspectors to cover the different districts and make arrangements with the farmers owing money on lands, who may wish to do so, to pay the company in wheat at the rate of 50c per bushel for any arrears they may owe. Mr. B. G. Hamilton has been appointed to Central Assiniboia.

Sergt. Green, of Estevan, passed through here Thursday in charge of two prisoners, Jno. Casey and Frank Barrett, who were sentenced to serve three months in Regina jail on the charge of vagrancy. These young men are also wanted by the United States authorities to answer for the murder of John A. Brown, of Oakes, N.D., and will be handed over to them on the completion of their term at Regina.

BRAITHWAITE'S ADDRESS.

To Loyal Patrons and Independent Voters in Manitoba.

Brethren and Gentlemen: We feel keenly with you the defeat of our cause at the polls. However, we have no regrets, neither do we desire to attach any blame to anyone. We desire to cordially thank the independent voters who so nobly stood by us for a principle. We believe the effort will bring its own reward in the years that are to come. As for those who so basely sold us, we have nothing but pity for the men and utter contempt for their actions. As for myself, I am defeated, but not conquered; discouraged, but not debauched.

My aim and ambition was for the cause. You all know I never asked for the position—I never sought anything—time and again I tried to honorably get out of the position. I have championed a principle to the best of my ability; had I been less scrupulous results might have been different.

We have proved that we have traits in our camp. But our hands are clean; our cause is just; the principle still stands, and good will come out of our independent action. We may expect to receive some ridicule and already we have received abuse from disappointed, unthinking, unmanly partisans. But we can challenge the world as to our conduct during the campaign. No dishonest attaches itself to our banner. We have been courtously received, and respectfully treated in every corner of the constituency, and while we cannot agree with the actions of our opponents, and many of the tricks and base insinuations of their satellites will not bear the light of day, still such is Canadian politics, and such will continue, until the independent voters demand a change as the price of their ballots.

Now, as to the future, we have no plans other than consistency. We are willing to continue our humble efforts for the people's rights; our faith in our cause is unshaken; we will stand by the right, unyielding results with inexpressible gratitude to our true friends, and charity to all others. We take a back seat and gracefully bow to the will of the majority, sincerely hoping and believing that some good may come by a change of government. Yours for true Patronism.

Buffalo Lake Pic-nic.

The Patrons of Industry picnic, which took place at Buffalo Lake, on Friday last, was fairly well attended, a large number of townspeople being present. The day was excessively hot and this with the fear of being eaten alive with mosquitoes, no doubt kept many away who would otherwise have been there.

The chief event of the day was a baseball match between the Buffalo Lake team and a picked nine from the visitors. The first half of the game was closely contested, and at the end of the fourth innings the score stood a tie. During the last half the Buffalo Lake boys had the best of it, owing to their being in better practice than their opponents. When the game was concluded the Buffalo Lake team were some 20 runs ahead.

Mr. McInnis was expected to be present, but was unfortunately unable to accept the cordial invitation extended to him, as his time was fully occupied in connection with the election recount.

Death of Mr. Fred. Ross.

It is our sad duty this week to record the death of Mr. Fred Ross, which took place at his ranch, on the Broken-shell Creek, on Tuesday evening, June 30th. Mr. Ross, who is brother of our esteemed townsman and Member of the Legislature, J. H. Ross, was engaged in his usual duties on the ranch on Tuesday evening when he was suddenly taken with severe pains in the chest and expired in about half an hour. Mr. Raney who was also engaged on the ranch was the only other person with Mr. Ross at the time. The remains were brought in on the Soo on Wednesday morning and taken to the residence of Mr. D. McLean, from whence the funeral proceeded to the cemetery, accompanied by an unusually large number of citizens. Mr. J. H. Ross received word of his brother's death early Wednesday morning while returning from Qu'Appelle to Regina, and came through to Moose Jaw, accompanied by Mrs. Ross.

Deceased was a man of about thirty years of age—a genial, large-hearted soul—the friend of everyone. His extremely sudden taking off has caused an intense shock both at Moose Jaw and Regina, where he was well known.

He Saw His Father.

"Father," he began, after taking the old man out back of the barn, "your years are many."

"Yes, my son."

"You have toiled early and late, and by the sweat of your brow you have amassed this big farm."

"That's so, William."

"It has pained me more than I can tell, to see you, at your age, troubling yourself with the cares of life. Father, your receding years should be spent in the old arm chair in the chimney corner."

"Yes William they should."

"Now, father, being you're old and feeble, and helpless, give me a deed of the farm, and you and mother live out your few remaining days with me and Sally."

"William," said the old man, pushing back his sleeves, "I think I see the drift of those remarks. When I am ready to start for the poor house, I'll play fool and hand over the deed, William."

"Yes sir."

"In order to dispel any illusion on your part that I am old, and feeble, and helpless, I am going to knock down half an acre of corn with your heels!"

And when the convention finally adjourned William crawled to the haystack and cautiously whispered to himself:

"And Sally was to broach the same thing to me at the same time. I wonder if she is mortally injured or only crippled for life.—N. Y. Tel.
